Details

Utilizing technology developed by engineers previously in the AI division at Tesla, we have created the most advanced bomb detection and bomb neutralization robot the world has ever seen. Even the most basic unit we offer is equipped with all the tools necessary to effectively remove any threats before they are noticed by the typical security guard.

Research shows that the average response time for the typical human security guard average to about 13.26 minutes between 4,337 security guards. In our tests, the iRobot Bomb Detector took a blazing 3.25 minutes average to recognize AND neutralize threats! Our top of the line units can be bought for under $3000 and we offer bulk discounts for security firms!
